MAIN ECP OBJECTIVES

External cultural policy, which the Indonesia Ministry for Education and Culture refers to as “Diplomasi kebudayaan” (“cultural diplomacy”) aims to:

- Promote the Indonesian language to become a language widely spoken internationally.
  - Indonesia Language for Foreigners Programme (Bahasa Indonesia bagi Penutur Asing), including the 2015-2019 Strategic Plan put forward by the Strategy Development and Linguistic Diplomacy Board (Pusan Perkembangan dan Diplomasi Kebahasaan). Its strategic objectives include:
    - Transform Indonesian into an international language, thereby creating opportunities for allowing for more Indonesian “participation in maintaining peace and social justice in the world” (Collins, et al., 2020).
    - Introducing Indonesian society and culture in the international world in order to improve Indonesia's image abroad.
    - Improve the strategies and materials associated with Indonesian language diplomacy.
    - Expand the student number and enhance their learning results.
- Expanding and improving the visibility and appreciation of Indonesia internationally.
- Increasing knowledge of the world community on Indonesia's cultural wealth.
- Increasing the influence of Indonesian culture at the international level.
- Increased understanding, cooperation and good relations with other countries in the field of culture.
- Building a strong support base for Indonesia in international forums to support the resolution of domestic problems.
- Improving Indonesia's bargaining position when mediating the resolution of various problems between nations.
- Advancing the quality of human capital, especially in the field of culture.

ECP CONTEXT

- As an emerging economy, Indonesia utilizes culture and international mobility schemes as an important tool to strengthen the country's position on the international scene.
- Indonesian cultural diplomacy is closely tied to its heritage policies through the placement within the same governmental subdivision (founded in 2013). In line with this institutional arrangement, cultural diplomacy is seen as a process that happens within the diverse and multi-ethnic country as well as outside it.
- Wider Indonesian public diplomacy seeks to position Indonesia as a pluralist, diverse country that promotes and lives moderate Islam.
- Indonesian culture is often perceived in the context of its historical roots and its image of exoticism. Contemporary Indonesian programmes seek to position the diversity of Indonesian cultures on the international platform, including intangible cultural heritage practices and modern artists.

Cohen, 2019; Kementerian Pendidikan dan Kebudayaan, 2019; Huijgh, 2017.

REGIONAL FOCUS AND INSTITUTIONAL EMPHASIS

- With 33 institutions abroad overall, Indonesian "brick-and-mortar" presence abroad (beyond embassies and consulates) is limited. Nevertheless, the overall ECP engagement is more expansive due to an emphasis on Indonesian universities. They frequently welcome international students and researchers and are instrumentalized for a variety of mobility schemes across the subfields.
- Activities and institutions frequently target Indonesia's neighbourhood with countries like Malaysia, Thailand and Timor-Leste. Beyond that, a selection of countries in Europe, as well as Australia and the United States are frequently included. Certain activities, such as Indonesian foreign media, specifically target the Indonesian diaspora abroad, which is strongly represented in the Middle East.

5. Current Issues and Developments

- The narrative Indonesia seeks to paint in its wider public diplomacy engagement – of being a diverse, tolerant and religiously pluralist, modern society – has in recent years been challenged by media reports of inter-ethnic frictions and discrimination against religious minorities.
- Indonesia is in the process of scaling up its cultural diplomacy activities, with several new cultural centres being constructed abroad over the duration of the last decade. Using the World Culture Forum, organized with the patronage of UNESCO, Indonesia is also hosting a semi-regular conference aimed at setting the standards of future international cultural relations worldwide. These activities are also a response to the finding that Indonesian culture remains relatively unknown on the world stage.
- As an emerging economy, Indonesia’s international spending must also be justified domestically. The large number of international mobility schemes have been contested in recent years, as certain investments at home still lag behind.
